Microchips are only as good as their database's ability to have the microchip traced back to the pet's owner.
Is your information current in your pet's microchip's database?

Scanning your pet today was the first step in ensuring their microchip will help them find their way home, if ever lost.

You must also ensure you keep your pet's information current in the manufactures database.

To find out what manufacture database to use, you can use the AAHA Universal Microchip Lookup Tool.

We recommend using the manufactures database. Busy shelters may not be able to take the time to contact each and every private database company. Their first call will be to the manufacture's database!
